

Grauburgunder Urmeer Löss

75cl

Weinhaus Reh Kendermann

Millions of years ago the prehistoric ocean covered the Rheinhessen-region. When the ocean dried up it left fertile and mineral soil. During the last ice age, this soil was covered up by nutritious drifting sands called loess. Thus, the ideal ground with excellent water retention properties to grow grape vines was created. This wine captivates through lush fruity aromas paired with a fresh crispness. Grauburgunder enjoyment par excellence!
